A close-up photograph of a large, multi-petaled flower, possibly a peony, with a dark, textured center and a lighter, more delicate outer ring of petals. The petals are layered and show some yellowing or aging.

Beloved by everybody, no flower can exceed the Peony for popularity. From year to year its popularity increases so that it has been very appropriately termed the King of Flowers.

LANDSCAPE SERVICE

You will find that many of the rules for landscaping are the same as those used for purchasing clothing or designing clothing—you want to achieve an effect best suited for your needs. In landscaping however, you work with living plants, trees, shrubbery, garden accessories, fences, arbors, etc., which are not easily tried on or moved around after they are planted. They must be placed right at the outset and a study of your needs are important before you start. We are prepared to serve you well, and the plants need not be expensive. A friendly welcome awaits you!
